PUBLIC DISCUSSION FORUM

in seminar style

Auditorium of FIT

Missionsstraße 3-5
29320 Hermannsburg

Registration is not mandatory.

- How do we experience God in the Holy Spirit?
- How does God experience us in the Spirit?
- How do we experience one another in the Holy Spirit?

We want to discuss these issues in the hope that a new and strengthened understanding of the Holy Spirit might help us to be more competent and open-minded in our ecumenical and intercultural fellowship.

The presentations will be followed by small group discussions and plenary sessions.
Event language: English and German.

The Forum will be chaired by Prof. Johannes Weth and Prof. Moritz Fischer. They will also be available to answer questions.

ARE THE SPIRITS DEVIDED OVER THE HOLY SPIRIT?

Just as Jesus Christ is the source of the Church's unity, so the Holy Spirit is the source of its diversity. The life-creating and life-giving Spirit of God continually brings forth the diversity of life in all the earth, including the Church. Through the Holy Spirit, God participates in the diversity of our experience live and at the same time lets us take part in the abundance of the divine relationships.

In an interdenominational and intercultural discussion, we want to explore the following simple and yet significant questions in three events with competent speakers:
